

BIG REPUBLICAN RALLY TONIGHT

PETER MCCARTHY IS FRIEND TO EVERYONE—39 YEARS IN MISSION

If you should visit the police station or sheriff's office in Joliet about 8 o'clock of any morning of the year, you would see a spry, kindly, 83-year-old man chatting with the policeman or sheriff's deputies. You would probably get the idea that he had dropped in only for a bit of chitchatting, but there's a purpose in this man making his rounds at these places every day of every year. You see, he's looking for someone—man, woman or youth—to help.

He is one who provides stranded and penniless persons with transportation to their destinations. He is one who gives clothing and food to needy families and individuals. He is one who provides food and shelter to transients who find themselves in Joliet without funds.

The man of whom we write is Peter McCarthy, superintendent of the Morning Star Mission, 460 Collins street, Joliet, whose downtown "office" is located just outside the First National bank building on the corner of Chicago and Van Buren streets.

Pete, as he is affectionately called by his host of friends, has been helping people in distress for the past 39 years in Joliet. That he has received some recognition of merit for his long years of service to humanity is proved by the fact that the Associated Press recently released a long feature story about Mr. McCarthy and his work to the daily newspapers in the United States. He has also been written about at one time or another in the Chicago papers, as well as the local ones.

The Morning Star Mission provides men with food, lodging—and spiritual aid. The basement, painted white, is spotless, dry and warm and it is the "ward" where men can turn in for the night. There are showers and other facilities for the needs of the "guests." When the occasion demands, women and children are put up at the local hotel, the Mission footing the bill.

In the 39 years that the mission has been in existence, McCarthy has never had to call the police, nor has there been a death or sickness at the mission.

The Community Chest allocated $4,500 of its funds during the last fiscal year for the mission to carry on its work. This money goes for the maintenance and upkeep of the mission building, purchase of food, the buying of bus and railroad tickets and aid to needy families and individuals in Joliet.

Besides Mr. McCarthy's service benefiting individuals and people, it also is of benefit to the community because instead of remaining stranded in Joliet and becoming a financial burden to the community, the people whom he helps are sent out of town.

Another Easter Lily

Easter lillies are drawing attention Mrs. William Seeman in Frankfort reports that she has a beautiful Easter lily plant blooming with four flowers and one bud, the latter about to open.

Mrs. Seeman said, she allowed her plant to die down during the spring after Easter, and in the spring set it out in her flower bed, and it started to grow, watering it regularly, with the result of the four flowers and bud now. Perhaps there are others who have Easter lillies blooming now. If so, we would be glad to hear from them.

MANY PEOPLE ATTEND DOUBLE CELEBRATION AT MARLEY CHURCH

The Marley Baptist Community church was filled almost to capacity Sunday evening when the members of the congregation celebrated the 115th anniversary of the founding of the church and dedicated the new Wurlitzer electronic organ.

For many years it was the dream and ambition of the members of this church to have an organ in their place of worship. When the late Mr. Albert H. Kerchaval, in memory of his wife, gave $1,000 to the organ fund, and the family of the late Miss Minnie Hanratt, also gave to the fund, in her memory, the possibility of attaining this goal became very real. The outcome of these gifts was this lovely single manual Wurlitzer electronic organ.

Presiding at the organ at the dedication service Sunday night was Mr. Leo Lyons of Joliet who presided at the organ in the presentation of a splendid organ recital, playing many lovely selections, which showed forth the possibility of the instrument.

Mrs. Muriel Korista sang two solos: "In the Garden" and "Lord's Prayer."

Rev. William A. Bingham, pastor of the church, in speaking of the 115th anniversary, told of the pioneer people who settled in that territory, and desiring to create a place of worship, met in the homes, as there was no church in those early days. Next they met in a

FRANKF'T WOMAN WINS CROCHET PRIZE AT FAIR

First prize winners in the crochet division at the Will county fair who are eligible to compete in the national finals of the Nation-Wide Crochet contest were announced by Mr. C. M. Ginter, fair secretary.

Mrs. Elsie Heck of Peotone, was awarded the Gold Sunray trophy offered to the contestant whose crocheted piece was judged "Best of Fair." Mrs. Heck won first prize in the luncheon sets classification. Other first prize winners were: Mrs. Nora Pooley, Peotone, tablecloths; Mrs. M. J. Monroe, Joliet, and Miss Verna Ackerman, Frankfort, household accessories; Miss Leona Etheridge, Joliet, hats and bags and edgings or insertions classification; Mrs. Elsie Johnson, Joliet, chair sets classification.

The competition at the Fair was extremely keen, making it very difficult for the judges to select the top winners. This was the first year that a trophy had been offered for the best crocheted piece, and this incentive, together with the desire to compete for the title of Grand National Crochet Champion in the Nation-Wide Crochet Contest produced some of the finest crochet work ever to be exhibited at the Fair. It was also announced that the Will County Fair is making plans to participate in the national contest again next year.

The finals of the Nation-Wide Crochet Contest will take place in New York City during the week of November 20th where the first prize winners from over 500 local, county and State fairs will compete. Following the judging, there will be an exhibition of all entries in the Winter Garden of the Hotel McAlpin from November 29th to December 3rd, which will be open to the public.

Guindon's Write of Storm in Florida

Following is a portion of a letter received from Mrs. Rene Guindon, former Mokena resident, and who now lives in Homestead, Fla. As Homestead was included in the recent storm area in Florida, we had written to Mr. and Mrs. Guindon to ascertain the effect of the storm to them. Mr. Guindon was an employee of the Semmler Newspapers for several years. The letter:

"The worst of the storm really was at night and you couldn't see anything. The electricity was off for several days and everyone uses the old fashioned kerosene lamps. The winds blew and howled for several days, seemed just like a blizzard up north only minus the snow. But you never saw so much rain in all your life. Like a deluge. The (continued on back page)

AUTO RAMMED BY STREET CAR

Mrs. Frank Sizer figured in an auto accident Friday morning September 24 at 10:45 o'clock as she was driving north on Western avenue. She was preparing to make a left hand turn, to go west on 67th street, and was in front of a street car. The street car bumped her and caused her car to turn almost around, which put her in the path of an oncoming street car, which also hit her. The Sizer car, a 1947 Ford sedan was a complete wreck, but Mrs. Sizer received only injury to both her knees and bruises about her body. Upon the arrival of her husband and son, she was removed to the German Deaconess hospital and released after examination.

Mrs. Sizer is gaining strength daily and it is hoped she will soon be completely recovered.

SILO EXPLODES ON TINLEY FARM

An unusual accident occurred at the George Keuch farm, located at 175th street near Ridgeland avenue last Saturday morning October 2, when his silo exploded. This farm formerly belonged to the W. A. Wilkins family and was well known throughout the Tinley area because of the two large silos on the farm, which became a landmark for travelers, as they could be seen for many miles around. They were built of glazed brick.

Mr. Keuch stated that the silos were filled the day before, using the green corn from the field. Early Saturday morning when he went to the barn, to his surprise he discovered half of one of the silos blown out, and the remaining half ready to collapse. It is thought by Mr. Keuch, the explosion was caused by an exceeding amount of pressure in the silo.

State Garden Club to Suspend Annual Chicago Flower Show

The Board of Directors of the Garden club of Illinois have recently approved the following recommendations regarding the Chicago flower show:

1. That the Chicago Flower Show presented annually by the Garden Club of Illinois be regrettably suspended for the Spring of 1949 in the City of Chicago.

2. Reasons advanced: (a) Chicago's civic pride never having progressed horticulturally to the extent of providing a Horticultural building (where admission fees may be charged) comparable to those of Boston, Philadelphia, and some other cities where flower shows may be staged at various times of the year (parking areas necessary.)

(b) Costs of everything entering into the production and presentation of a complete Flower Show having advanced beyond the bounds which would justify the individual expenses and efforts of the workers from The Garden Club of Illinois in setting up and maintaining a major Flower Show.

(c) Our Commercial following, loyal all these years, merit Show locations in a good exhibition hall, with a flower show complete in every detail, and, at this date, there is no exhibition hall whose rental and floor space and parking areas meet with our approval.

It is our intention to present our second annual Illinois Garden Week, a tour throughout the State of houses and gardens, including flower arrangements and table settings, the week of May 16, 1949.

The above was approved by the Board of Directors of The Garden Club of Illinois September 13, 1948.

Gamblers Plan to Cash In at Legion Convention in Florida

The Miami Herald in a feature article has warned that Dade County gamblers were preparing to cash in on the influx of thousands of Legionnaires

BACK HOME AGAIN

By Ed Dodd

for the 30th annual convention of The American Legion October 18 to 21.

The Herald said that Miami gamblers 'have redecored, renovated and, in many cases, constructed entirely new layouts for their crooked dice, wired wheels and shaved and marked cards.' The newspaper also charged that some $100,000 worth of specially rigged slot machines were being held in readiness to trim the visitors.

This newspaper article has led national convention officials of The American Legion to caution all Legionnaires planning to come here to beware of state-chartered private clubs, a majority of which they said function as "gambling dens" and "bust out" joints. American Legion officials have discussed measures to protect visiting Legionnaires with city and county authorities and with the special service committee of 700.

One object that will never sport the "New Look" is the man in the moon. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, we see only one side of the moon because the moon circles the earth and the earth turns in unison with the moon. Millions of years ago, people saw the same "Man in the Moon" we see today.

Solving the Problem Of Too Many Geese

The first flight of Canadian geese already has come into the Horseshoe Lake refuge, their earliest arrival in history, and will be met almost immediately with a bewildering barrage of pyrotechnics — the noisiest welcome they ever have received.

Aerial grendaaes dropped from two airplanes of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service burst in mid-air starting Monday (Sept. 27), accompanied by fireworks and other noise makers operated by ground crews of the Wildlife Service and the Illinois Department of Conservation.

is three-fold: (1) dispersion of too-heavy concentrations of the honkers which have made the Southern Illinois refuge famous; (2) protection of corn and soybean crops of the farmers of the area, and (3) provision of better shooting for goose hunters.

In urging the innovation in wildfowl control, Director Osborne pointed out that tremendous damage has been caused to crops of many farmers by the goose concentrations, which have become heavier and heavier from year to year. Breaking up of this concentration into segments is expected not only to eliminate hundreds of thousands of dollars in crop damage annually, but also to send thousands of geese into Union County, Crab Orchard Lake and other refuges where food is plentiful and crop damage will be negligible.

A closure area of 18,000 acres was established last year, setting up a barrier two miles wide completely encircling the Horseshoe Lake Refuge. While eliminating the "slaughter pens," this closure has in no way ended goose hunting, as the majority of hunters who visited the area last year were able to get birds.

This year's federal migratory bird regulations permit the shooting of two geese a day, but hold the possession limit to one day's kill, as did last year's regulations, which however permitted only one bird a day.

The ground crews in the noise campaign, using two-way radios in patrol cars and pack sets, comprise three federal enforcement men under Game Agent Conover, and five state conservation officers, under William Cloe, refuge manager.

Corn picking on the refuge will be held up this year until mid-November to provide late winter and early spring feeding for the geese, Co-ordinator Davidson stated, and fishing will be closed down for about 60 days as a safety measure.

Farm Leader Gives Dewey Plan for Study of Dollar

Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for President, is "sympathetic" to a proposal for the creation of a joint Congressional committee, with close White House cooperation, which would be charged with a study designed to stabilize the dollar, according to one of the Nation's top-ranking farm leaders.

The proposal was presented to the New York Governor by Allan B. Kline, of Vinton, Iowa, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who called at the executive offices in Albany, N. Y., to discuss with Mr. Dewey a long-range farm program and current farm prices.

Kline said Governor Dewey was "quite interested" in the suggested committee, which would study causes and effects of inflation. Aided by a technical staff of experts, the committee would study the whole problem of money, credit, control of the national debt, income and Federal spending as well as the relationship between farming and the general price level.

Other topics discussed with Governor Dewey, Kline reported, included decentralization of government and the advantages which could be expected from such a move.

Kline said he believed that federal agricultural agencies must be financed at the federal level, but that control of their activities should be turned over to the states, as far as possible, "to make use of the maximum initiative, ability, enterprise, and sound local thinking, based on local problems, within each state."

Asked by reporters if there was any substance to the recent charge by Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan that the Republican Party intended to destroy farm price supports, Kline said that the Republican party platform had clearly endorsed price supports, and that Governor Dewey, as well as the Republican spokesmen for the two Congressional committees on agriculture—Senator George Aiken and Representative Clifford Hope—had each gone on record as favoring flexible price supports for farm commodities.

Referring again to his proposed committee, Kline declared that one of the farmers' major complaints today is that "the government is not now using all the available machinery already at hand to bring stability to prices."

The Lowdown From Hickory Grove

I am out today, folks, to alert a raft of good citizens on what to expect as the Govt., instead of just having a foot in the door of some business, gets all the way in, like Uncle Samuel is, right now, along the Columbia there in Oregon and Washington. Good citizens throughout the land who believe in private business versus the Govt., running same, are more or less sold on the idea of the Govt. running the power house.

Electric power is a technical subject. Few people feel like delving too deep so they just take somebody's word for it. For these folks, here is what to do—it is simple—will take little effort—will upset nobody's tranquility or take much time from the ball game broadcasts or the soap-suds drama. Do this one thing—whether you are a milliner, or dentist, hardware salesman, barber, or what. Say to yourself, "Could the Govt. do my job better than I am doing it?"

Your answer will put you straight on the Govt. dams and powerhouses that are springing up across the nation. But do it—before the Govt. ambles over on your side of the street and starts trimming bonnets—putting in inlays—peddlin' hardware, etc. Amperes and volts are as complicated and maybe even more difficult to handle than putting a little flower on mama's chapeau. So look out folks—no telling who is the next victim.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

ELOQUENT FACTS

Socialized medicine is supposed to give the people of a country good health service for little or nothing. But they pay plenty for it—in money, and in the important coin of a decline in the standards of medical care. That is the gist of a report on socialized medicine in New Zealand, made by a practicing dentist of that country.

The cost is tremendous, he said—because so much of the money goes for administration. Armies of civil servants are on the payroll. Little is spent on research, and overworked physicians "have little or no time for reading and investigation and little incentive to that "it is impossible for them to devote the necessary time to each patient, evaluate their symptoms and give a careful and considered diagnosis."

All of this has a familiar ring. Exactly the same thing has happened in every country which has adopted socialized medicine or, which is almost equally bad, has gone in for one kind or another of compulsory health insurance schemes that give the government the whip hand over medical practice and make the doctor dependent on the state for his living. The cost of care goes up even as the standards of care go down. And progress and research take a back seat.

The best argument against compulsory sickness insurance for this country is the experience of other nations. The plain, unvarnished facts are eloquent enough.

September, the ninth month of our calendar, got its name from the Latin word "Septem"—which means seven. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, Julius Caesar added two months to the Roman calendar and the numerical sequence has been in error ever since.

was announced here today by Gordon Lang, President.

The immediate objectives of the association, according to Lang, are construction of one of the largest underground parking areas in the world, zoning to assure high standards of tenancy, and landscaping of Michigan Avenue and adjoining streets, from the Wrigley Building and Tribune Tower to the Drake Hotel.

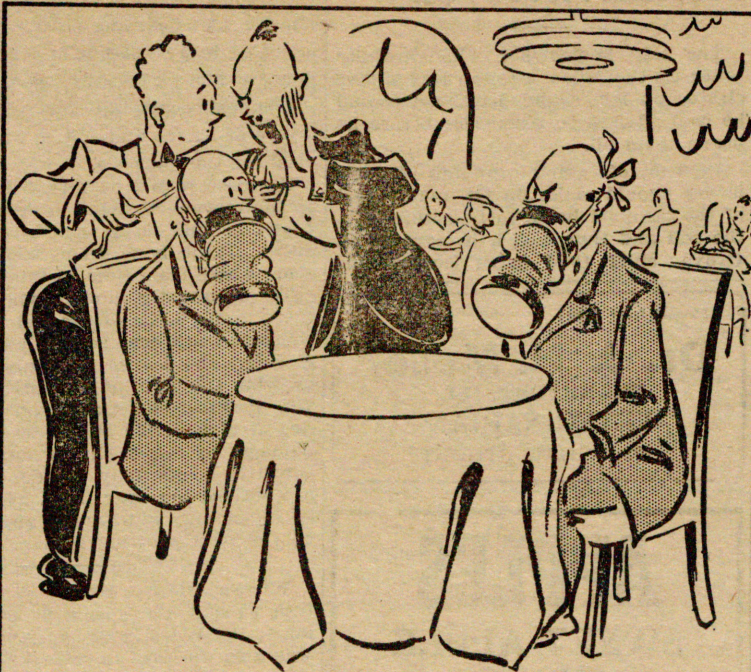

To accomplish these and other objectives the Association contemplates expenditures of $100,000 annually for the first three years.

Charter membership in the North Michigan Avenue Association involves a three-year support of the program. Charter membership dues are based on a formula of three-tenths of 1 per cent of assessed land value on Michigan Avenue, plus one-tenth of 1 per cent of assessed building value, with maximum annual dues $2,500. All other property in the North Michigan Avenue area, not on Michigan Avenue, will be subject to charter membership dues of one-tenth of 1 per cent of the combined assessed values of land and building. All dues will be based on the assessor's valuation of the property.

One of the major and immediate plans, developed by Holabird & Root & Burgee, calls for a parking area accommodating 3,500 cars, to occupy a lower level to be constructed from Tower Court to Lake Shore Drive, between Chicago Avenue and Pearson Street. It is anticipated that this will cost $6,500,000. This development will be the first of its kind east of San Francisco and largest in the world. The parking area will be available to the public on the lowest possible cost basis. It will be used by shoppers, residents of nearby hotels and apartment houses, and tenants of office buildings. It will also serve the numerous hospitals in the area, alleviating an already congested situation.

Present assessed value of buildings and property in the Michigan Avenue area north of the Chicago river exceeds $75 million. Present building plans call for expenditures of more than $200 million within the next eight years.

The plan originally mapped out by Rubloff and John Root, noted architect, called for the mile-long stretch on Michigan Avenue and the secondary streets on either side to east and west, to be occupied by buildings of medium height fronting on Michigan Avenue, with taller ones back of them, the two rows of buildings to be separated by landscaped promenades. The famous old water tower at Michigan and Chicago Avenue would remain. A recreational area will be a feature of the development. A civic music hall would be built on city land at Seneca Street.

Since the Avenue plan was first announced, several developments have been started on Michigan Avenue as part of the overall project. Bonwit-Teller, famous New York women's wear shop, has begun construction of a Chicago store at Pearson and Michigan. Walgreen & Company has completed a two-story building, incorporating a modern drug store, at the southeast corner of Chicago and Michigan. Chandler Shoe Division of Edison Brothers has remodeled a building at Erie and Michigan and opened a store there. Lyon & Healy recently opened a larger and modernized music store at Michigan and Chestnut.

There are other tangible plans for the immediate future of North Michigan Avenue. Saks Fifth Avenue, which owns the east block on Michigan, between Delaware and Chestnut, has made plans for building a new store having 200,000 square feet of floor space, on 57,000 square feet of land area.

Other developments, well past the planning stage, are expected to be announced soon.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh.

Get The Truth!

Called on my good friend "Cappy" Miller, who edits the County Bee, the other day. And hanging up on the wall of Cappy's office is this slogan for his paper:

"Remember there are two sides to every question. Get both sides. Be truthful."

A good slogan ... not just for a newspaper—for people, too. Because there'll always be two sides to every question: the side of those who vote one way, and those who vote another—the side of those who enjoy a temperate beverage like beer or ale, and of those who swear by nothing but cider.

And from where I sit, once you've got both sides—and faced them truthfully, you realize that these differences of opinion are a precious part of what we call Democracy—the right of the individual to vote as he believes, to speak his mind, to choose his own beverage of moderation, whether beer or cider.

Re-Elect Mason to Congress

After six years of legislative experience in the Illinois State Senate, Congressman Mason was elected to the Congress of the United States, and he has been re-elected five times. The result of this long service is that you have an experienced and influential Representative at Washington.

For ten years Mason was the ranking Republican member of the Immigration and Naturalization Committee. For six years he was a powerful force in the work of the Un-American Activities Committee, to drive communists and alien enemies out of the Government. He is now a high-ranking member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee of the House.

Men like Harold Knutson, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and Joseph Martin, Speaker of the House of Representatives, have written in high praise of Mason's work in helping to reduce taxes, waste, and extravagance in Washington.

Congressman Mason has won the respect of the leaders of Agriculture and the representatives of workers for the courageous battles he has waged for farmers and laboring men, always keeping in mind the interests of the whole country.

You have it in your power to retain Noah Mason as your Representative. This experienced educator, businessman and legislator has earned for this district increasing influence and leadership in Congress.

DON'T BURN THE FALLEN LEAVES

The tidy homeowner who carefully rakes up the fallen Autumn leaves that clutter up lawns and driveways would be well advised to reconsider before he burns them all.

Instead of going up into flames, leaves should make up the major part of the compost heap, to be returned to the soil and thus enrich it, says D. Q. Grove, chief field supervisor of the Dayey Tree Expert Co. As a good and cheap fertilizing mixture, the compost is valuable as a top dressing for lawns and for transplanting shrubs and flowers. For bigger plants and trees, peat moss is more generally used.

Compost heaps are made by piling layers of leaves and soil. All leaves are good for this purpose.

Compost should be turned frequently as the movement helps to break up the particles and keep moisture content even. If the heap seems too dry, add some water from time to time.

Too frequently, home owners ignore the organic needs of the soil which the compost heap does so much to satisfy. Burning the leaves not only deprives growing things of added nutriment, but this practice sometimes endangers the health of valuable shade trees. Serious damage to trunk, limbs and shallow sensitive roots may be done if fires are started too near trees. This injury, however, may not become apparent until the next growing season.

William Henry Harrison was the first President to die in office. According to the World Book Encyclopedia, he was also the first member of the Whig party to be elected. Harrison's term was the shortest in American history—only thirty days.

New Youth Hostel at Cook-DuPage-Will Counties Junction

There is something new developing at the triangular corner of Cook, DuPage and Will Counties—a Youth Hostel on the Fletcher Farm between alternate route 66 and the Desplaines River about opposite Lemont.

Hosteling means traveling, informally and economically, usually on bicycle or on foot, in order to develop a greater knowledge, appreciate and enjoyment of the out-of-doors while at the same time realizing the comradeship of like-minded companions. American Youth Hostels, Inc., is a national non-profit organization (headquarters at Northfield, Mass., John D. Rockefeller III, President, which seeks to help build a more peaceful world through the wide and happy comradeship of youth by providing youth hostels in America, sponsoring youth hostel trips here and abroad, and making the educational benefits of travel youth's common heritage.

A Youth Hostel is a simple overnight accommodation. A youth-loving couple act as house-parents. There are separate bunkrooms and washrooms for boys and girls, a common kitchen and dining room. Blankets and cooking utensils are provided by the hostel. Hostellers carry their own plates, cups, etc., cook their meals, wash the dishes, make their own beds, and tidy the hostels before leaving.

A local community committee representing schools, churches, character-building organizations, civic and outdoor clubs, sponsor Youth Hostels. The committee selects hostel and house-parents, aids in its equipment, and assures maintenance of youth hostel standards.

Mr. Gene Fletcher has made available a large building for use as a Hostel and during the past several weeks groups from Chicago, Villa Park and other towns have been cleaning out the old barn and putting it in shape to be fitted out as a hostel.

There is still much to be done before the building is ready to be dedicated as a Hostel and the assistance of any groups or individuals who would like to lend a hand will be most welcome. Those desiring to do so should get in touch with Mr. J. R. Wilson, 259 South Oakland, Villa Park, telephone V.P. 3378, or with the Chairman of the Chicago Youth Hostel Council, Mr. Chesley R. Perry (former Secretary of Rotary International) at 19 S. La Salle Street, Chicago 3, Telephone Franklin 2-9020.

The location is ideal for bicyclists of all three counties who can do from 15 to 30 miles a day and for hikers who will do 5 to 10 miles a day through the countryside. Here they will find a lovely spot to spend the night before returning home or going on for another day's journey. Other hostels in northern Illinois are at Palos Park, Des Plaines, and Waukegan and also at Rockford and Oregon on the Rock River.

Hostellers from Illinois have gone further afield into Wisconsin and Minnesota and Michigan and to New England and Canada and the North Carolina mountains and some Illinois hostellers were among the several hundred American hostellers who went to Europe this year. As other states and countries extend the welcome accommodation of Hostels to those from Illinois, so we of Illinois should provide Hostels for those who come to our state from other places as well as for our own people.

Rufe's Ramblings

By RUFÉ PICKETT

I've always been a poor hand at forcing myself in where I didn't feel welcome. Certainly nobody can ever say that I wasn't invited that time when I visited the big house on the hill down home. Day after day I had passed on the freight and an old gentleman had waved to me from the front porch, or from where he might be working out in the beautiful lawn which extended all the way down to the track, and when I walked into the parlor he shook hands with me and told me just to make myself at home. I thanked him and told him that I hadn't really intended making any social calls that day but one of the servants had been so insistent that I just couldn't refuse. Quite a group of the other guests gathered around me and I told them that I was sorta wondering what my crew would think when they found out that I wasn't on the train. "When they find out that they can't run the railroad without you they'll send for you," the old gentleman assured me. "But," sez I, "you don't seem to understand. I'm the middle brakeman on the up freight. We shoved a car of coal around to the boiler room. I climbed up to set a brake on it and the head man cut off and went with the engine. He and the engineer and fireman knew I was going to walk down to the caboose and the conductor thinks I am on the engine, and here I am, just because a fool guard wouldn't let me leave the grounds." "Son," sez the old gentleman, "he was only doing his duty." "I don't care," sez I, "I told him I was not an inmate and showed him my annual pass on the railroad and he wouldn't listen to me." The old man sorta frowned and sez, "We don't use the word inmate here. We are guests of this institution. This is not an insane asylum, it's a sanitarium. And as for your annual pass that don't mean a thing. They won't let me out and I have a deed for the railroad in my pocket."

rain and water really caused all the damage and trouble. Many places for blocks square are still under water.

"The groves really suffered. We counted from the road, passing by in the car, 27 trees—immense trees—blown down in one grove. Don't know how many were down further in the grove. We are only 8 feet above sea level, so it doesn't take very much water to flood things.

"The 'eye' or center of the storm did not go directly over us or we probably would have suffered, it went over the west coast at Everglades City. We also had a tornado here in Homestead, but hit only in one section, and we did not even know of it till we read it in the newspaper.

"As long as your house is pretty well built there is no danger. The danger is in being outside and hit by flying debris. It does sometimes take off roofs, but only the houses that were hit by the tornado were the ones demolished.

"It wasn't near as bad as I figured it would be, but then again, I wouldn't care to see another one."

Illinois Farm Leader Backs Dewey-Warren

One of Illinois' top farm leaders—Theodore Funk of Bloomington—has been named to membership on the National Farm committee for Dewey and Warren, after taking part in the organization of the group in Chicago, where delegates from all sections of the country pledged themselves to work for the Republican national ticket and urged "farmers everywhere to join and actively support this great effort, regardless of political affiliation."

SCRIPTURE: Genesis 11:27-25:11. DEVOTIONAL READING: Hebrews 11:1-10.

God's View of People

Lesson for October 10, 1948

"YOU can learn more about human nature from reading the Bible than from living in New York," said a Yale professor who had tried it both ways. He was right; for in New York you are likely to see your neighbors only on the outside, while in the Bible you are introduced to people on the inside.

One great value of the Bible is its plain stories about people, all sorts of people—simple, great, wise, foolish, saints and sinners. They lived thousands of miles from here, and thousands of years ago. They dressed differently and many of them spoke in languages now dead. Yet somehow they live in these inspired stories.

Saints

ONE of the great biographies of the Bible is that of Abraham. If you will read it in Genesis you will see it is not like one of our modern biographies; it does not follow a continuous line, but consists of short incidents strung together sometimes without connection.

It is more like an album of pictures than like a movie. Yet putting all the pictures together we get an impression of a remarkable man.

Indeed, Abraham was one of the most remarkable men who ever lived. Without a church, without a Bible, without prophet or priest or tradition, born in a nation and a family that "worshiped other gods," as Joshua said later, somehow Abraham came to know that there is but one God, and not only to know that as a fact but to know that God as a friend. (In fact, Abraham's name among the Arabs to this day is "The Friend.") We must call Abraham one of the great religious geniuses of all human history.

Yet he does not stand alone. The Bible is a book of saints; the letter to the Hebrews calls the roll of some, and ends by saying time is too short to name them all.

Now a saint is not a person who lives totally without sin. A saint is one in whose life goodness is stronger than evil; a saint is one who actually lives as a friend of God, for whom God is the central fact in all his life.

Sinners

THESE are no whitewashed plaster saints, the great and small figures of the Bible stories. They come before us just as they were. Abraham, for example, at times was a coward, a liar, a bigamist, a slaveholder.

We must not suppose that everything any character in the Bible did was right, or is right today. The writers simply tell the stories, seldom using adjectives like "bad" or "good" or "noble" or "mean." We are left to make our own judgments.

We are shown what effects sin has on men, we see how evil spreads by suggestion and imitation, we see how temptation works. God inspired the biographers; but he does not inspire men to tell lies or to cover up evil by calling it good. So do not be shocked to find that even a saint like Abraham had feet of clay. The important things about him are the good, not the bad.

The Light That Shines

FURTHERMORE, when you read these Bible biographies, you can trace a very interesting story through them all: namely the story of the human understanding of Right and Wrong.

But in Old Testament times, as in the case of Abraham, we must remember they were in the dawn-years before the sunlight of Christ had risen. Some of the things Abraham did would get him into jail nowadays; but some of those very acts were then the mark of a gentleman.

Sometime when you are discouraged and think the world is growing worse, all you need to do is to think back to some of these old Bible stories. What the very best people did then, is now by Christians seen to be not always good.

The human race has progressed, and nowhere more than in its knowledge of what is right to do. And even so, a man like Abraham, as good and great as he was, shines with an even brighter light across the centuries, challenging us to rise above our times as he often rose above his own.
